NUTR101x Online Courses App

In the course Nutrition and Health: Macronutrients and Overnutrition, we use the Online Courses App for the Personal Food Quest assignments. You can upload the answers to these assignments via the Online Courses App. To view the results of your fellow learners, use the Map tab in the course navigation bar. To discuss your results and those of your fellow course members, please use the Discussion forum.

App Installation

iOS or Android

1. Open the App Store or the Google Play Store.
2. Search for WageningenX.
3. Select WageningenX Online Courses App.
4. Install the app.
5. Give permission for location use.

Desktop version

If you do not own a smartphone or experience a problem with the app, you can use the following link to upload your pictures and answers: http://onlinecourses.wur.nl/desktop. Don't forget to register as explained below.

Note: Because the app was developed for a touch screen, there is no scroll bar available in the desktop version. Instead, use the scroll wheel of your mouse or laptop touchpad. To delete your contribution, use your right mouse button and move to the left.

Registration

1. Open the Online Courses App.
2. Register with the same e-mail address you use for your edX account.
3. Log in with the e-mail address and the new password that you created for the app.
4. Fill in the unlock code for this course: NUTR101m.

Congratulations! You are now a user. Good luck using the Online Courses App!

Please note: the Online Courses App uses and stores the following information:

- Your registration e-mail address and alias.
- Your location.
- The location information of any photos that you upload using the app.

The location information is necessary to display the graphics and photos in the Chart and Picture Maps.

Use of the Online Courses App is optional. Your location information is only shared if you choose to do the exercises in the app. If you don't want any of this information to be stored or displayed, simply skip the app exercises. This will in no way impact your grade.

Deleting any completed exercises will also delete that data from our database. If you wish to have your e-mail address removed from our database, please send an e-mail to wageningen.x@wur.nl.
